Spending Some Time on the Inside: Jackson's Cell Block Seven Prison Museum

In 2013, the Ella Sharp Museum of Jackson, Michigan, was approached about developing a plan for a museum at an operating penitentiary dedicated to telling the story of the Michigan Department of Corrections. The Cell Block Seven Prison Museum opened for operation in June 2014 and continues to develop with support and direction from the MDOC. We will discuss the initial goals for the museum, what's been learned over the past year, and where it is headed over the next four.
