

MUSEUMS AND SOCIAL JUSTICE

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN MUSEUM STUDIES PROGRAM

FALL 2016 LECTURE SERIES

Taking a Look in the Mirror: Transformative Change within Museums

Chris Taylor

Chief Inclusion Officer
Minnesota Historical Society

Museums do not exist in a vacuum. The external environment around museums is in a state of constant change. Yet, it seems as though museums continue to approach diversity and inclusion work through community outreach and programs. It is time for museums to transform. We must look internally at organizational culture and traditional work practices in order to spark transformative change across the field. This talk focuses on concepts and practices to shift work culture to help museums evolve into inclusive institutions.

Tuesday October 4, 6:30 PM
Helmut Stern Auditorium,
University of Michigan Museum of Art

All events are free and open to the public.

For additional information visit <http://ummsp.rackham.umich.edu>

